About Us

Construction Logistics and Community Safety – Australia (CLOCS-A) is a national good practice approach for managing the risks and impacts associated with a construction project's on-road transport and logistics activities to community road safety.

It was developed to provide a consistent framework for industry to achieve and has been inspired by the success of the Construction Logistics and Community Safety (CLOCS) program established in the United Kingdom in reducing road trauma associated with construction logistics.

The primary goal of CLOCS-A is that a similar reduction in lives lost and serious injuries can be achieved locally on our roads in Australia.

Mission

To ensure the safest, leanest, and greenest construction vehicle journeys

CLOCS-A Supply Page Partner

At CLOCS-A, we're not just transforming construction logistics; we're building strong partnerships with like-minded organisations, trade associations, industry leaders, and charitable groups who share our vision for a safer and greener future.

We value these collaborations as catalysts for change, driving standards to protect vulnerable road users. Together, we're raising awareness, promoting best practices, and championing initiatives that make a real difference across all sectors of the industry.

The CLOCS-A Standard aims to enhance the safety of construction logistics within the community by:

- setting minimum safety standards for heavy vehicle operators in construction projects
- defining minimum heavy vehicle driver training and competency requirements
- setting elevated standards for haulage route assessment and logistics planning
- enhancing communication and awareness of heavy vehicle safety with the public.

At CLOCS-A, we uphold high standards for excellence in construction logistics. We are excited to provide exclusive advertising opportunities for suppliers who share our dedication to safer, cleaner, and more sustainable practices. Join our esteemed partner network, but remember, meeting our rigorous criteria is essential for showcasing on our platform.

Recognising the varied landscape of supplier types and business sizes, we introduce a flexible three-tiered advertising solution. This enables suppliers to select a tailored package that suits their specific requirements, ensuring exceptional visibility and value.

Seize the opportunity to align your brand with industry pioneers and demonstrate your commitment to advancing construction logistics. Collaborate with CLOCS-A today and let's work together towards a brighter, greener future!
